

Places to meet online

- Yahoo!
 - Faith Hope Love DisabilitiesSupport group
 - Ability Foundation group
 - Blind Like Me group
 - Blind Access Help group
 - Blind Handy Girl group
 - VI Mums group
 - VIP Forum
 - Do a general search in Yahoo Groups for “blind and visually impaired”
 - Do a search in Yahoo Groups for a specific eye condition
 - Chat rooms
- Facebook
 - Ai Squared's page
 - CNIB's page
- Google
 - Search for “Blind forums”
 - Search for “Visually impaired groups”
- www.magnifiers.org
- www.aisquared.com
- www.nfb.org
- www.csbps.org
- www.paltalk.com
- www.afb.org
- www.vipconduit.com
- www.albinism.org
- www.dailystrength.org
- www.accessible-devices.com/
- www.familyconnect.org/community.asp
- www.exjake.com/
- www.rnzfb.org.nz/newsandevents/successstories/memberprofiles
- www.acb.org
- www.zonebbs.com
- Go to a general personals network and look at profiles
- Deaf-blind Forum: A discussion list on issues relating to accessible technology for deaf-blind people has been launched by Western Oregon University in the United States. To subscribe, email: DBTECHIES-subscribe-request@TR.WOU.EDU

Other info

- Contact support groups and advocacy groups in your area which will meet to address the issues regarding certain eye diseases. This is a good opportunity to network.
- One can also attend and participate in fundraisers for a particular eye disease and/or attend activities at agencies like the Lighthouse. There are recreation groups, exercise groups, etc....
- Contact a Center for the Blind near you.
- Contact a Recreation Center for the Blind near you.
- Check with the local blindness organizations, Division of Blind Services to provide information on social gatherings happening within those organizations.