Ai Squared Introduces CompatibilityOne and Free Tutorial in ZoomText 7.04 Release

MANCHESTER, VT – May 15th, 2000. – The latest version of ZoomText Xtra was unveiled today by Ai Squared, the worldwide leader in low-vision software. The new release of the award-winning magnifier/screen reader version 7.04, features CompatibilityOne – support for all Windows operating systems in a single package.

Ai Squared is the first accessibility vendor to support Windows 95, Windows 98, Windows NT and the new Windows 2000 with a single product. CompatibilityOne saves the end user an enormous amount of money and time, alleviating the need to purchase and install new accessibility software when upgrading to new operating systems.

“Our competitors all charge a premium for their Windows 2000 and NT versions”, said Ben Weiss, President of Ai Squared. “We didn’t feel this was the right thing to do to our customers. Our goal is to allow visually impaired users to migrate to new versions of Windows, without the added cost and hassle. Now that Windows 2000 has been released, our work on CompatibilityOne is complete and the benefits speak for themselves”.

ZoomText 7.04 features full support for Windows 2000 and Office 2000, giving low-vision users access to Microsoft Word, Excel, Outlook and Internet Explorer. Other key improvements include support for WordPerfect 2000 and enhanced caret routing when exiting ZoomText’s DocReader feature.

Also introduced, as part of the 7.04 release is the exciting new ZoomText Tutorial. This multimedia tutorial is provided free with all ZoomText products and trial versions. The tutorial allows end-users to get a jump-start on the functionality of this powerful program. All aspects of ZoomText Level 1 and Level 2 are covered in the tutorial, with built-in speech and large print.

Registered users of ZoomText 7.xx can download a free update from the company’s website. Users of previous versions of ZoomText can upgrade for a nominal charge. Visit www.zoomtext.com for more information.
